Today's Quotation
A more serious war is concealed beneath peace.

Editor The Star: I was much interested in your writeup of Federal Judge Parker and "He Hanged Them High."

I was living at Pryor Creek, Cherokee Nation, in 1893-4 and have waited on Belle Starr and her cousin Henry, and knew many of the "popular crowd" of that day. The last time I saw Henry Starr he and Cherokee Bill were in a card game in the Fort Smith jail.

Pryor Creek, now known as Pryor, was the station for the M. K. & T. to put off passengers for all points east. This was during the Cherokee Payment.

I would like to subscribe for this book as soon as it is published and would greatly appreciate it if you can advise me.

"He Hanged Them High," Homer Croy's new book mentioned in this column June 2, is published by Little Brown & Co., 34 Beacon St., Boston 6, Mass. — but you don't buy books direct from the publishing company. Orders should be placed through a bookstore.

Personally I would very much like to learn if anyone in the Hope territory knows where I can borrow a copy of the older version of the Fort Smith story, called "Hell on the Border." The review copy of Homer Croy's "He Hanged Them High" hasn't come in yet, but in reading it the editor would like to check Mr. Croy's text against the old-time tale.

The late Steve Carrigan, Jr., had a high opinion of "Hell on the Border," which apparently was a first-hand account of the proceedings of Judge Isaac Parker's court in Fort Smith's rough days with the Indian Territory. But Mr. Carrigan, although he had read this early book, had no copy of it.

It was presumably printed in Fort Smith, but Clarence F. Byrns, editor of the Fort Smith Southwest American, also was unable to find a copy for me although he knew of the old-time book's existence.

I imagine Homer Croy read "Hell on the Border" while "researching" for his own book, and I am curious to know how the two tales compare. If anyone can put me in touch with the old edition I'll appreciate it.

Obviously the new Croy story belongs in every Arkansas home interested in our state's history. The coming of law and order is a tale of never-ending fascination as it unfolds for each particular state and city in this great nation. And the events around Fort Smith three-quarters of a century ago should make one of the greatest stories of all frontier legend.

Fulbright Salvages Key Amendment

Washington, June 9 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas salvaged in the Senate this week what he regards as the most important of several amendments he has proposed to change the Walsh-Healey Act.

The Walsh-Healey Act provides that firms contracting to sell goods and supplies to the government must pay the prevailing wage scale. It was enacted to keep government contracts away from sweat shops.

However Fulbright has contended that as the act has been and is being administered by the Labor Department, industry is being frozen in areas where it now exists and can't get established and thrive in other areas—the south for example.

He proposed three amendments to the act which he contends would bring it into line with what he regards as the original act of Congress. The Senate Banking Committee approved two of these.

At this stage President Truman criticized the two amendments and urged the Senate to defeat them.

Markets

New York, June 9 (UP)—Railroad shares rose to new 21-year highs and led stocks higher at a moderately active opening today. Oil shares vied with the carriers for leadership. The group was active with gains angling to a point.

Steels ruled steady on fairly active turnover. Chemicals, metals, and miscellaneous issues strengthened.

The upturn followed a broad rise last week that carried rails to their best levels since early 1930 and the utilities to within touching distance of their high.

Gains of a point or more were made by American Cyanamid, Texas Pacific Land Trust, and Barber Oil.

Accidents Fatal to Two Youths in This Section

Accidents claimed the lives of two youths in this section yesterday — a 15-year-old boy drowned in a stockpond near Rosston and a 5-year-old youth was hit and killed by an auto at Murfreesboro.

Dale Biddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fay Biddle of Rosston, drowned while swimming with his cousins, Charles Brown 15, and Eugene Brown 13, in a pond at their home.

The incident occurred about 2:15 p.m. Young Biddle was attempting to swim across the pond. His cousins tried in vain to rescue him and one almost drowned himself in the attempt. The boy had been in the water about 25 minutes when his body was recovered. Members of the Hope Fire Department and Hempstead Coroner R. V. Herndon Jr. worked about two hours in an effort to revive him.

At Murfreesboro Ruddle Carroll Adcock, aged 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adcock of Murfreesboro, was killed when struck by a car on Highway 70 inside the city limits.

The driver of the car was identified as John Anthony, 22, of Murfreesboro. State Trooper Harold Bell said no charges will be filed. Dr. Dewey Duncan said both wheels of the car passed over the child's body. He said the child was crossing the highway toward a cafe which his parents operate. He was the eldest of three children.

Funeral services for young Biddle were to be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Rosston Baptist Church by the Rev. Floyd Clark.

Young Biddle is survived by his parents, three sisters, Wanda Faye Audrey Jean, Linda Jane, a brother, Charles K., his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Biddle and a grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Brown.

Mac Arthur Likely to Be GOP Keynote

By The Associated Press
The Republican convention arrangements committee opens a two-day session today in Chicago with strong support reported developing for selection of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as convention keynote.

With only four weeks left, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight E. Eisenhower got down to the button-holding stage in their drives to win the Republican presidential nomination at the national conclave opening in Chicago on July 1.

That meant ardent wooing of 341 delegates who hold the balance of power. The are the 130 GOP delegates thus far chosen who are committed to other candidates on the first ballots, and the 211 who are uncommitted or are in dispute.

Eisenhower took the offensive Sunday on a key sector. He had a three-hour lunch and chat with Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania. Of the state's 70 regular delegates, 20 have been reported favorable to Eisenhower, 18 to Taft, and 32 are officially uncommitted. These last may take their cue from Fine.

After the conference, Fine told reporters he would not influence the view of delegates; that his own mind was still open toward the candidates. He announced the Pennsylvania delegates will meet Friday with Eisenhower at the general's farm near Gettysburg, Pa. Fine said, he did not look for any definite action to come out of the meeting. A meeting with Taft will be arranged later, at Taft's request.

The latest Associated Press tabulation of GOP delegates listed 462 for Taft and 390 for Eisenhower. Nomination requires 604 votes. The tabulation is based on commitments, concessions or first-ballot choices. On Saturday, the Indiana state GOP convention selected 32 delegates. All were pledged to Taft by the convention, but two announced they did not feel bound by the convention in.

WESLEY HOWARD

DeQueen Man Seeks Post of Chancellor

Wesley Howard, DeQueen attorney, has entered the race for Chancellor of the First Division of the Sixth Chancery District. Mr. Howard issued the following statement in behalf of his candidacy:

To the Democratic voters of the Sixth Chancery Circuit of Arkansas:

"I take this means of announcing my candidacy for Chancellor of the 6th Chancery Circuit of Arkansas."

"I was born and reared on a farm in a little rural community called Provo, seven miles north of the old historical town of Lockesburg in Sevier County, Arkansas. I attended the grade school there, and finished high school in Nashville, Arkansas. Before entering the active practice of law I had experience teaching in the public schools. I attended the University of Arkansas, where I received my Bachelor of Arts degree and my Bachelor of Laws degree."

"I took part of my law training in the Law School of George Washington University in Washington, D. C., but inasmuch as I intended to live and practice law in Arkansas I transferred my credits from George Washington University Law School to the University of Arkansas Law School, where I received my three-year law degree."

"I was admitted to the practice of law in 1926, and have been practicing ever since."

"As to age, I am now 54 — old enough to be experienced, and young enough to be active. In every court of the land from Justice Court up to and including the Supreme Court of Arkansas, as well as in Federal Courts, my law practice for twenty years before I went on the Circuit Court bench had been the usual varied practice of cases — criminal, civil, law and equity — large and small. I am not warped or prejudiced in my legal viewpoint, and have not exclusively represented any one class of practice."

"I am married and have a family consisting of my wife and one child, a son three years of age. I now reside in De Queen, Arkansas."

"There can be no criticism of ties of blood or kinship against my

Reds Send Clark a Note, Want to Resume Talks

Panmunjom, Korea, June 9 — (UP)—The Communists high command today asked the United Nations to come back to the truce table and go "all out" to settle the prisoner of war issue and achieve peace in Korea.

The Reds, jolted by the U. N. declared three-day recess in the truce negotiations, sent the note to Gen. Mark W. Clark, supreme U. N. commander.

It was signed by North Korean premier and supreme commander Gen. Kim Il Sung and Gen. Peng Teh Hual, commander of the Chinese "volunteers" fighting alongside the North Koreans.

Pelting radio gave the first word of its contents, a few hours after Communist liaison officers handed it to the Allies at Panmunjom and before its receipt was acknowledged by Clark's headquarters.

The note recognized that "the only deterrent to smooth deliberations... is the problem concerning repatriation of prisoners of war."

It continued, according to Pelting: "In order to realize an armistice in Korea, as being desired by all the people in the world, we consider it imperative that both sides should go all out to settle this outstanding issue."

"Both sides have already agreed on the point on guaranteeing the all-prisoners of war will not be used again in the battle so as to enable them to return to a peaceful life back home and this with a view to settling the prisoner of war questions on a reasonable basis."

"In order to put into effect this guarantee, our side has repeatedly proposed the most practicable plans."

Allied observers here immediately noted that the "practicable plans" put forth by the Communists have been completely unacceptable to the United Nations.

The prisoner talks are snagged on the issues of forces repatriation. Only 70,000 prisoners held by the Allies have said they want to go back to Communism. The remainder of the 168,000 former soldiers and civilian internees have declared they will resist return, and the U. N. has declared it will not force them to go.

"If the United Nations has sincerity toward the true talks," the note said, "the United Nations delegation should come to Panmunjom and resume the talks."

Down Payments on New Homes Are Lowered

Washington, June 9 — (UP)—The government today lowered down payment requirements for purchase of all new housing, effective Wednesday.

Under the new credit terms, veterans will not be required to make any down payment on homes costing $7,000 or less, and the initial payment for non-veterans will be slashed from 10 to 5 percent in that price range.

The changes were announced jointly by the housing and home finance administration and the federal reserve board. They apply to all types of residential housing from one-family homes to apartment units.

The two agencies made no change in credit terms affecting non-residential building, but they indicated that some modification is under consideration in that field, too.

The down payment requirements set under the so-called regulation J, which is administered by the federal reserve board.

At the top end of the home price scale, the down payment requirements were cut from 50 to 40 percent for non-veterans and from 45 to 35 percent for veterans on homes costing $25,000 or more.

No change was made in the time limit set on payment of mortgages. On properties valued at $12,000 or less, the mortgage must be paid off in 25 years. On higher-priced homes, the limit is 20 years, except that veterans may get an extension in hardship cases.

Spokesmen for the national association of home builders, who had been clamoring for months for relaxation of the down payment requirements said the change would boom business in low-priced veterans' housing.

But they protested bitterly that the changes in credit terms for non-veterans and for all higher-priced housing were "a vast disappointment." They said the new

Preacher Who Fasted 51 Days, Dies

Cherryville, Mo., June 9 (AP)—The fasting preacher of the Ozarks died today — the 51st day since he vowed he would eat nothing until his prayers were answered for "the more perfect will of God for my own life."

The Rev. J. J. Ivie, 57-year-old minister of the Assembly of God Church, died in his modest home at the edge of a woods in this crossroads village of 38 persons, 60 miles south of St. Louis.

His wife, herself an ordained minister, said Ivie was conscious until the end: Five sons and a daughter were at his bedside. The family took the death calmly.

From the beginning, his wife said, Ivie had insisted that "if the Lord wants me to die, I am ready to go."

Ivie had signed a statement to protect his family from possible legal action in case of his death. Mrs. Ivie said her husband, a minister since he was 17, also had given strict orders not to let a physician in his home even if he would lapse into unconsciousness.

Ivie had insisted he was not fasting to "save the world from sin," although he had expressed concern about Communism in two recordings he had made since he announced the fast.

"I am seeking the more perfect will of God for my own life and asking God to show me why the signs do not follow my ministry as Jesus said they would," he wrote in a note clarifying the reason for his fast.

Twelve days ago Ivie was reportedly weakening. At that time he had lost 36 pounds and had wasted away to about 130 pounds.

Mrs. Ivie said her husband took nothing except occasional sips of water since last April 20. As he weakened, he was thrown into severe spells of retching.

His church expressed concern over his welfare but took no official action to stop his fast.

Annual Study Days at Local Experiment Station to Be Held on June 27 and 28

A new type of program has been planned for the Twenty-Fourth Annual Family Study Day at the University of Arkansas' Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station, here, on Friday, June 27, and Saturday, June 28.

Instead of the usual guided tour of the station during which everyone attends the same stops, visitors will be able to select the subjects in which they are most interested, and will spend their time at those stops. Directing traffic in the field and guiding the visitors to the different discussions will be members of the Boy Scouts Explorer Squadron 62 of Hope.

The annual study day for Negro farm families will be held the following day, (Saturday, June 28). The same topics will be covered during the morning discussions and demonstrations on both days.

Discussions will be held in the field on Truck Crops, by Dr. V. M. Watts of the University's Horticulture Department; on pastures, with W. H. Freyaldenhoven, Extension Agronomist, and Dr. P. C. Sandall of the University's Agronomy Department on overhead irrigation, with Dr. John Bowers and R. H. Benedict, of the University's Horticulture and Agricultural Engineering Departments, and James L. Gattis, extension agricultural engineer, on forestry, by F. M. Moade of the University's Forestry Department and on fruits, by Earl J. Allen extension horticulturist.

From 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. there will be four demonstrations given on the station campus. These will cover first aid for the farm, farm safety, landscaping the farmstead and electricity on the farm. These also will be on a free-choice basis, with all four being offered four times.

Friday afternoon's program will include short discussions on a sanitary farm water supply, by F. L. McDonald of the State Health Department, and Wild Life in Arkansas, by a representative of the Arkansas Game & Fish Commission. The Miller County Home Demonstration Club Council of Texas will present a square dance after which Associate Director Dwight Isely of the Arkansas Agricultural Experiment Station will briefly discuss the research program being conducted. Adjournment will be at 2 p.m.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Isely will again address the visitors and there will be group singing and talent numbers by some of those attending the event.

The Hempstead County Home Demonstration Council will provide lunch and soft drinks at minimum cost for those who do not care to bring their own lunch. Negro club women will provide the food for the second day. Members of the staff of the Fruit and Truck Branch Station will be in charge of the proceedings on the two days.

Disturbance Could Upset Negotiations

Washington, June 9 (UP)—Top government officials predicted the steel strike would be settled today, apparently on terms close to those recommended by the wage stabilization board.

Optimism for quick settlement was animated when President Truman asked the Senate to withhold any legislative action on the steel dispute. Mr. Truman wrote vice President Allen W. Barkley that any Senate intervention in the dispute "might be very harmful at this stage."

The President said there is a "reasonable hope" that negotiations will be successful.

Informed sources said negotiations for the major steel companies would present a wrap-up offer when they met representatives of the CIO Steelworkers Union at 3 p.m. (EST) for the fifth straight day.

Both sides reportedly had agreed on a two-year contract term, as compared with 18 months recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

By comparison with the WSB wage recommendations of a 20-cent hourly package raise if upward the final "package" would be closer to 21 to 22 cents.

Sources close to the negotiation said the wage issue was still open on the question of Sunday "premium pay."

The sides were pictured as about ready to agree on a 15 to 18-cent hourly straight wage increase with another 6 cents in "fringe" pay for holidays and vacations. It was understood the straight pay rate would be 15 cents an hour if the new contract is retroactive to Jan. 1, and 16 cents if its effective date is moved up to March 1 or April 1.

The bargaining teams were expected, these sources said, to compromise on the Sunday pay question. WSB recommended a 3-cent hourly premium. One to 10 cents per hour was mentioned as a likely compromise figure.

As presidential Assistant John Steelman called the negotiators back into session, and bitter fought union shop issue shaped as a major block, but there was official confidence it would be solved.

Once the bargaining teams reach agreement in principle on the contract, the industry will be negotiating directly with Steel on a price rise to offset the higher labor costs. It was understood $4.50 a ton price increase had been tentatively held out to gain for $5.00.

An early settlement would pressure the administration leaders in the Senate who been waging a delaying action ward off Senate interference dispute. It would also remove last remaining roadblock to action in extending the Production Control Act.

With no settlement, the faced hours of wrangling to three amendments offered to controls law dealing with strike.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D) rejected the steel controversy the Senate debate last week he proposed an amendment on President Truman to Taft-Hartley law. Immediate end of the strike. Administrators, jockeying for time to showdown on the

The full fury of the storm struck the three-city area of Moline, East Moline and Rock Island, Ill., late today. Winds up to 70 miles an hour uprooted trees and snapped power lines.

JULIANA'S FLORAL DOMAIN—A unique birthday tribute for Queen Juliana of The Netherlands was this floral representation of The Netherlands, planted overnight on the grounds of the summer palace at Soesdijk, Holland. More than 2,000,000 flowers appeared in the elaborate design. The unusual greeting was a gift of Holland's tulip bulb industry.

RIDING HIS HOBBY — Peter Davis, 4, of London, England, would rather toy with chessmen than play with toys. The precocious child could sling at the age of one, draw at two, write when he was three, and now is able to use the typewriter. He plays the piano and has composed one piece of music. He is also adept at solving mathematical problems mentally.

Can't Recognize Politicians by the Way They Dress Now, When You Do Its Too Late

By HAL BOYLE

New York, June 9 (AP)—The trouble with politicians today isn't that they all sound alike. It's that they all dress alike.

The average politician looks so much like any ordinary man you can't even tell he is running for office until he opens his mouth. Then it's too late.

Politicians need something to set them apart. Nothing sets a man apart like a uniform. So why not uniforms for politicians? Since everybody loves a uniform, why not create one for bureaucrats, too? It would put them up there with the rest of the herd.

Many people in government life now wear uniforms—such as policemen, firemen, members of the armed forces, garbage collectors and diplomats readily identified by their uniforms. But it's every public servant who is a uniform and you could see at a glance what he was. You would also be impressed at how many of them there are.

Naturally you would have to have different uniforms to distinguish those elected to office and those appointed to their jobs.

All bureaucrats, for example, might be outfitted in neat white shirts and serviceable blue serge suits lined in the seat with a good grade of saddle leather. You could tell their rank by the chevrons on their sleeves, just as you now can tell a corporal from a sergeant. To build pride of service each bureaucrat might be permitted to wear a stripe on his cuff for every three years he had been in his post.

Then you could look at his chevrons, count his stripes and figure his salary.

To stamp him even clearer, each bureaucrat might wear a metal lapel emblem denoting his branch of government. For example, a miniature car of court for the Department of Agriculture, a pair of pliers for the Labor Department, a golf club for the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Now let us consider a uniform for elected politicians. They present none of a problem. A politician wants to look impressive and well-dressed. But not too well-dressed.

Perhaps a return to the old Roman toga is called for. The toga is a simple classic garment, rich in dignity. Sew in a few inside pockets and provide the politician with a place to stow his car keys, eyeglasses, aspirin tablets, and campaign leaflets.

Politicians belonging to the party in power would wear a toga of purple, the traditional color of royalty. Their togas might even be tastefully trimmed with fur. Mink? No, no. Maybe an ermine. Politicians of the party out of power would look fetching to the voters in a toga of white, symbol of purity, with a small gold star of hope blazing over the heart.

I can hear some gruff old U. S. Senator grumbling already: "How could the people tell me from the rest of the catchers or struction, and would vote for Eisenhower.

Virginia chose the last two of its 23-person delegation. Both indicated Taft leanings, but they were officially uncommitted.

The official canvass of last Tuesday's primary vote in South Dakota gave the state's 14 Republican delegates to Taft by a margin of 613 votes out of nearly 130,000.

Only 13 Republican delegates remain to be chosen, none this week.

Little action was scheduled in the Democratic race this week either. The only delegates will be chosen Friday by a Connecticut convention. The state has 16 votes and they all were expected to be pledged to Sen. Brien McMahon as a favorite son candidate.

Massachusetts Democrats chose 72 delegates — each with a half vote — in a caucus Saturday at Boston. All were pledged to Gov. Paul A. Dever as favorite son and Democratic keynoter.

The present AP tabulation of Democratic delegates lists 246 for Sen. E. A. Tamm of Tennessee, 80 1/2 for Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, 85 1/2 for W. Averell Harriman, mutual security administrator, 415 unknown and other divided among a dozen candidates. Nomination requires 616 votes.

Taft said in a speech at Washington Sunday if he is elected President he will appoint Gen. Douglas MacArthur to a high government post. The former Pacific commander, ousted a year ago by President Truman, is supporting Taft.

G. Mason O'Connell, Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania and a member of the GOP arrangements committee, came out strongly Sunday for MacArthur as keynoter. The committee will choose the keynoter tomorrow.

The keynoter's job is to get the convention under way with a rousing party-line speech. Also, he usually serves as temporary chairman.

J. Russell Sprague, New York committeeman backing Eisenhower, told reporters the general's camp would be satisfied with "anybody who is not an out-and-out party-line candidate."

He did not want to say immediately whether that would exclude MacArthur, who backed Taft in the close South Dakota primary.

Ralph Calkins, Oregon national committeeman who is backing Eisenhower, said he opposes MacArthur as keynoter because "I don't think anyone as committed as he is to a candidate should be a keynoter."

MacArthur is reported to have said he would accept the keynoter job, but would not like to preside, even briefly.

The temporary chairman might be called upon to make decisions disputed delegations. In the hot Taft-Eisenhower race, settlement of delegation disputes might make a big difference.

Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, House minority leader who has not been identified with either Eisenhower or Taft appeared to be in line for selection as permanent chairman.

National chairman Guy G. Gabrielson and Sen. William Knowland of California, along with Martin and MacArthur, were favored by Taft supporters for key convention posts.

decisions since I have no relatives engaged in the practice of law in Arkansas. Furthermore, no other member of my family has ever asked for a public office before.

"I was elected Circuit Judge of the Ninth Judicial Circuit of Arkansas in 1946, and on January 1, 1947, I assumed the duties of that office where I have served continuously in that capacity since that time.

"My educational background, my experience in the practice of law, and service on the bench as Circuit Judge, fully qualify me to serve as Chancellor, which office is for a six-year term.

"As Circuit Judge, it has been my aim and sincere desire to serve honestly, faithfully and impartially and if elected Chancellor I shall continue to serve in the same manner. I have worked hard in the Circuit Judge's office. It has been my ambition to render a real and genuine service to the people of my judicial circuit, and I believe I have done this. I have a laudable ambition to go higher in public service in my field of endeavor. This opportunity of promotion to the high office of Chancellor Judge won't come my way again during my lifetime. Naturally I would like for you, as a voter, to weigh carefully my record and qualifications as a candidate for this office, and promote me.

The Sixth Chancery Circuit is a large one, containing nine counties: Little River, Howard, Pike, Polk, Sevier, Miller, Hempstead, Clark and Nevada. You can readily see that it is a big job for me to see all the voters in this district between now and the election on August 12, 1952. I assure you that I will try to meet you personally and solicit your vote and influence in my race for this office. On the ballot in the Democratic Primary you will find the name of Wesley Howard as candidate for Chancellor. Your careful consideration, vote and influence will be appreciated."

Pryor, Okla., June 9 (AP)—The intensive investigation into the "carefully planned, cold blooded murder" of Mayes County Attorney Jack Burris is progressing rapidly, according to Crime Bureau Chief George Wilson.

Wilson and five agents arrived at the scene of the shooting yesterday and took charge of the investigation.

Authorities are checking stores in the area to find which sold .00 buckshot, the pellet that was fired into Burris' face from a distance of 7 to 10 feet Saturday night as he emerged from his Locust Grove home.

If they find the store that sold the pellet, they believe the owner could lead them to the killer.

An agent who asked that his name be withheld said they are investigating the possibility the county attorney's death was linked in some way to the bootleg whiskey traffic in the county.

Another agent, Sid Wilson, ruled out the original notion that someone had shot Burris because he sent him to jail.

"Had it been someone that Burris had prosecuted," Wilson said, "that man would have been vindictive and maybe would have boasted about what he had done. That sort of man probably would have met Burris on the street and shot him openly."

Higgason — Boyett
Vows Exchanged

The wedding of Miss Billie Joyce and Cpl. Harold Higgason, Jr., was solemnized at the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, June 8, at 3 o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Boyett of this city and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Higgason, Sr., also of this city. The Reverend S. A. Whitlow officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony before and altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and jade. A program of nuptial music preceded the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride was attired in a ballroom length dress of white nylon and lace over taffeta. The fitted strapless bodice was fastened to a full skirt, with an overblouse of lace fashioned with scalloped petersham collars, short sleeves, and buttoned to the waist with tiny self covered buttons. Attached to the blouse was a peplum which flared over the skirt. Her bridal hat was of starched white lace dotted with rhinestones and a nose length veil. She wore matching lace mitts and white linen opera pumps. She carried a purple throat orchid showered with white satin ribbon and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Miss Marion Taylor, cousin of the groom, served the bride as maid of honor. She wore an aqua nylon dress fashioned with a tucked bodice and full skirt. Her accessories were white. A corsage of vanda orchids was pinned at her shoulder.

Jack Brady, brother-in-law of the bride, served Cpl. Higgason as best man. Mrs. Boyett chose for her daughter's wedding a navy two piece prima broadcloth suit trimmed with white and white accessories. She pinned a corsage of white gardenias at her shoulder.

Mrs. Higgason chose a navy blue sheer with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The couple received the guests in the vestibule of the church. For travel Mrs. Higgason wore a redingote of white organdy over an aqua and gold metallic print. Her accessories were white and she pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Hope for the remainder of Cpl. Higgason's furlough.

Eighth Army Is Ready, Van Fleet Says

Seoul, Korea, June 9 (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today the U. S. Eighth Army is ready, alert and fit to meet any Red offensive in Korea.

The commander of the United Nations fighting machine said its morale "is high — ALMOST TO A point of wishing the enemy would attack."

"The Eighth Army is ready, alert and fit to meet any offensive which the enemy may foolishly decide to launch," Van Fleet told a news conference. "That effort would be defeated."

The general said the Eighth Army's supplies, particularly ammunition, are in good condition.

He has said several times the Reds in Korea have built up their artillery until they have more guns available than the United Nations.

U. S. military authorities have estimated the Communist potential striking force is approximately a million men, about 500 tanks, a self-propelled guns, and 1,800 planes.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, top Communist delegate at the Panmunjom armistice talks, recently warned that the Red army would not stand idly by while the United Nations Command "slaughters" prisoners of war on Koje Island.

Officers in charge of the U. N. prison camp island have blamed violence there solely on Red POWs. Ground and air action continued to pick up slightly on the Western Front.

A close and constant watch is maintained by United States biological warfare experts on the battlefield and rear areas in Korea.

To date, there has been no evidence that the Reds either have used or have in the Korean War zone the equipment for bacteriological warfare (BW), a spokesman for Defense Department scientists said today.

He disclosed, in answer to a reporter's question, that a report of a suspected bacteriological warfare plant in North Korea had proved unfounded. He said this is what happened:

They found that it was indeed a laboratory of sorts but that it was used only for public health and disease control. Nothing was found in the equipment or biological materials which could be used in offensive germ warfare.

The spokesman said up to now no other evidence has been found of any immediate Communist preparation to use germ warfare in Korea.

Washington, June 9 (AP) — The Communist party today called on some of its imprisoned and indicted leaders to dispute under oath the government's charge that American Reds take their orders from Moscow.

John Gates, former editor of the Daily Worker, was summoned from a federal penitentiary to be the party's first witness at a resumed Communist registration hearing before the Subversive Activities Control board.

Gates is serving a five-year term in Atlanta prison as a result of his 1949 conviction, along with 10 other chief officials of the party, on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Born Sol Regester of New York City 38 years ago, Gates had been active in American communism since his teens.

The control board proceeding, now in its second year, involves a demand by the U. S. attorney general that the Communist Party of the United States be required to register with the justice department as a foreign-dominated group. The 1950 Internal Security Act provides for such registration, upon a showing of control from abroad. Registration entails disclosure of members' names and details of financing.

During a 12-month presentation, started in the spring of 1951, government attorneys attempted to establish through 23 witnesses — largely former party members — that Russia runs the Reds in this country. The government completed its case on April 23, just exactly a year to a day from the start of the hearings.

In contrast, the party has indicted plans for a relatively brief rebuttal.

Vito Marcantonio, former New York congressman and chief counsel for the Communist party, told a reporter: "We hope to take not too long, because we feel that the attorney general has failed to make any case at all."

He said that after Gates registers, other witnesses will include

DOROTHY DIX

Resents Wife's Poor Health

Dear Miss Dix: My husband is wonderful when I'm well and happy, but when I'm ill or despondent he withdraws to himself, doesn't speak and seems to resent my inability to be up and around. He doesn't take care of the children when I'm sick, so that they get unruly, which just adds to my nervous strain. When I see his reaction I lose even the ambition to get well. If he would just show a little affection or interest, I'd feel so differently. I've talked to him about the situation, but he says he doesn't understand why he acts so. Of course, it's just when I need him most that he is most inaccessable.

LORA MAE T.

Answer: Your own physical condition is the first matter with which you should be concerned. Your letter indicates rather frequent illnesses, often of nervous origin. You should be in the hands of a good doctor who will diagnose your difficulty and prescribe the proper treatment. The fact that you worry so much over your husband's lack of sympathy could be, in itself, a contributory cause of your recurring ailments.

Unless your illness has been diagnosed, and its nature specifically outlined by a physician, your husband may, and perhaps not without cause, attribute your indispositions to a controllable nervous condition. Your desire to have his attention when you are ill may be so strong as to bring on symptoms of sickness. Naturally, when the sympathy is not forthcoming, frustration adds its coal to the fire, and your illness gets out of hand.

They Don't Understand
Few men are equipped to cope sympathetically with illness. Being it follows themselves, they cannot understand why the whole world can't be of equal stamina. Once these men have a good bout of sickness themselves, they undergo a surprising change of attitude, but while they remain perfect physical specimens, it's hard to make them understand another's suffering.

It certainly isn't natural for the average woman to be sick so often that her indispositions constitute a menace to her household; hence, your condition is either one or unusual physical weakness, or extreme nervous tension. The first is a job for a doctor, the second can be largely controlled by yourself, but here too, the aid of a medical man should be sought and his advice taken. If he finds adequate foundation for your trouble, and supplies your husband with all details, a better understanding should be achieved all around. Don't expect indiscriminate suffering to elicit sympathy from your husband because it won't! A genuine, scientifically labeled ailment probably will!

Answer: Your boy friend Allen is moving about forty miles away from here. We have been going steady for a year. I told him that when he moves I will not even think of going with any other boy, and I don't want him to go with other girls, either. My friends think I'm silly to tell him that. Every time I think of all the fun we've had together, it makes me cry. I am going to miss him terribly, even though we will write to each other. I really think his moving will upset my examination marks. He is 17. I am 18.

MARGUERITE T.

Answer: Your grief at losing a good friend is readily understandable, but you are making altogether too great a tragedy over it. Forty miles isn't such a terrific distance and after all you're not living in the dark ages. Mail service is very reliable, and a telephone call over that short a distance isn't too expensive.

After Allen has been away for a while, you'll find new interest in other boys — though at the moment I know you think me quite heartless to suggest such an eventuality. Sixteen is much too young to face ruined life over forty miles. What ever happens, Marguerite, don't let those exam marks suffer! They are

Little Rock, June 9 (AP) — The State Board of Education today granted applications of 12 school districts for loans from the revolving loan fund.

These include:
Poinsett County — Dist. 1, $9,000; Dist. 3, $10,000.
White-Pangburn Special, $4,000.
Independence — Southside No. 3, $7,000.

The board also approved a change in the effective date of a $161,000 refunding bond issue for Russellville, Dist. 14. The date was changed from Sept. 1, 1950, set under a resolution adopted two years ago, to April 1, 1952.

The board authorized an increase in construction bonds for Forrest City, Dist. 7 from $150,000 to $200,000. A similar increase was authorized for Fayetteville, Dist. 1 from $170,000 to $180,000.

The board re-elected Marvin Bird of Earle as chairman and Means Wilkinson of Greenwood, vice chairman.

The board received a report that a total of 163 school districts in 46 counties had less than a 9-month term in all or part of the district in the 1951-52 school year. The short term affected 10,765 Negro children in 36 districts and 34,810 white children in 73 districts. The state has a total of 423 districts.

Pusan, Korea, June 9 (AP) — The United Nations has urged the South Korean government to halt its political squabbles for 10 days to ease tension the U. N. said is threatening the republic with chaos.

The U. N. proposal was handed the government last night. It also suggested that President Syngman Rhee lift martial law from this temporary capital and release 11 national assemblymen held on charges of conspiracy against the government.

The U. N. Commission on the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea is seeking solution to the crisis brought on by a quickening of the long feud between Rhee and a majority of the Assembly.

Rhee is demanding that the right to elect the President be taken from the Assembly and given to the people. He also wants a two-house Congress instead of the present unicameral Assembly.

A proposed constitutional amendment embodying Rhee's demands was beaten in the Assembly earlier this year, 143-19.

Today, for the third time since Rhee declared martial law May 25, the Assembly tried to meet but failed to get together a required quorum of 82 members.

Many assemblymen have remained in hiding for fear of arrest by South Korean military police.

Prime Minister Chang Taik Sang failed today to negotiate a compromise between 52 pro-Rhee assemblymen and about 40 anti-Rhee lawmakers. His proposal was understood to contain Rhee's demands plus a proposal that the Assembly be empowered to approve cabinet appointments and hold votes of confidence on government policies.

Another plan under discussion would delay the presidential election from next week until mid-July.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 15 and very fond of a certain boy. The only objection to him is that he's four inches shorter than I. Do you think I should go out with him anyway?

MICKEY

Answer: If you like him enough, you'll overlook the difference in height — as apparently he is willing to do. Remember, too, at his age he has lots to grow and will quite probably bridge the four-inch gap before long.

New Social Security Pay Raise July 1

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 9 (AP) — For many people 65 and older July 1 will be like the three o'clock school bell that let them out when they were kids.

After July 1 the social security pension reaches a new maximum of $80 a month. Many old people will retire then to collect.

Anyone now on pension or who retires before July 1 will never be entitled to the new maximum of $80.

The only ones who can get that much are those 65 or older who quit work after July 1 and fill the other requirements for getting the maximum. The present maximum is around $68.50.

There has been talk around the country that swarms of old people now working, would quit after July 1. Social security people here say:

The number will jump for a couple of months and then return to normal.

Officials in charge of the government's manpower program don't expect the increased retirements after July 1 to affect the total manpower picture much.

In case you've forgotten the background on these social security pension changes, here it is:

Congress increased social security benefits in the fall of 1950 when the minimum pension was $10 a month and the maximum about $40. The increase was to be in two stages:

- For those on pension or going on pension before July 1, 1952 the minimum was raised to $20 and the maximum to around $68.50.
- Those going on pension after July 1, 1952 would never receive less than $20 and could, if entitled to it, receive as much as $80.

At the same time Congress laid down some rules for getting this $80 maximum:

If a person worked 18 months in a job covered by social security between Jan. 1, 1951 and July 1, 1952 and his pay was at the rate of $3,000 a year he could, by retiring after July 1, 1952, get $80 a month.

For this reason a lot of old people who might have retired sooner but who then couldn't get more than $68.50 decided to keep on working until July 1.

All that's been said in this story so far applies only to people, who have been employed by others in these past 18 months.

For the self-employed people there was a slightly different rule:

To be entitled to the full $80 a month, a self-employed person must keep on working till next Jan. 1.

He could get some pension if he retired before Jan. 1, but not that new maximum of $80.

Pennsylvania Governor Has 'Open Mind'

New York, June 9 (AP) — Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania, after a three-hour talk with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, says he still has an open mind about the Republican presidential hopefuls.

Fine adds that it may be some time before he reaches a decision, which presumably may guide 32 officially uncommitted delegates from his state to the GOP convention.

The governor and the general met here yesterday at the Eisenhower residence on the Columbia University campus. Eisenhower is on leave from his post as President of Columbia.

With the Republican convention less than a month away Eisenhower in his bid to win the nomination has meetings scheduled here this week with delegates from 15 Atlantic seaboard states.

Representatives of New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware and Massachusetts open the sessions this morning.

Yesterday's Eisenhower - Fine conference took on considerable importance because the 32 officially uncommitted Pennsylvania delegates constitute, by themselves, a voting bloc bigger than entire delegations from many states.

Fine said yesterday that Pennsylvania's 70 regular and 70 alternate delegates have been invited to meet the general next Friday at Eisenhower's farm, near Gettysburg, Pa.

However, the governor said he does not expect the meeting to result in any definite action in support of either Eisenhower or his chief opponent, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Pennsylvania delegates, Fine said, will meet with Taft at a similar meeting to be arranged later. The governor said Taft had requested such a gathering.

In addition to the 32 officially uncommitted Keystone State regular delegates, 30 have been reported favorable to Eisenhower, and 18 to Taft.

After talking with Eisenhower, Fine told newsmen he would not influence the view of the delegates but that he hoped the group would vote as a whole.

Fine said he and Eisenhower discussed "specific issues" and "practical politics." The governor added that he was "generally in agreement" with Eisenhower's statements, but he would not elaborate beyond making the general promise of a "strong campaign."

He said he considered Taft "a strong contender" in the warm summer campaign.

Brig. Gen. Edward Haviland Lastayo has arrived in Pusan to take over the Second Logistical Command from Brig. Gen. Paul F. Yount.

The Logistical Command has under its jurisdiction the U. N. POW camp on Koje. Yount was reprimanded by the Army after the kidnapping of Dodd for not detecting the implications in a letter written by Brig. Gen. Charles Colson to the POWs to gain Dodd's release.

Yount's new assignment was not disclosed but he had been scheduled for a routine transfer late this month to Washington.

Troops Ready to Split Up War Prisoners

Koje Island, Korea, June 9 (AP) — U. S. paratroopers used flame throwers, tanks and tear gas today in a second dress rehearsal for the imminent breakup of Koje's 17 prisoner of war compounds into smaller units.

Sullen Communists in Compound 76 watched the maneuver from their barbed wire enclosure — criss-crossed by chest-high trenches the Reds dug yesterday.

Dispersal of Koje's 80,000 riotous POWs into more manageable 500-man compounds will be Brig. Gen. Hayden L. Boatner's main blow toward gaining uncontested control over the prisoner pens. Present stockades have POW populations up to 6,000.

Date for the start of "operation breakup" has not been announced. But its imminence was underscored by the second straight day of rehearsal and the setting up of loudspeakers in front of Compound 76, which with adjoining compounds 77 and 78 probably will be divided first.

The three compounds are the most unruly on the island.

Prisoners in each have dug trenches around buildings and tents. In Compound 76 — where the former camp commander, Brig. Gen. (now Colonel) Francis Dodd, was held hostage 73 hours last month — there was feverish activity in the blacksmith shop.

Allied officers speculated that the clicking and hammering of metal meant prisoners were fashioning crude weapons.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. H. Trapnell, commander of the 197th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, personally directed today's maneuvers.

McGaughey, who was named chairman at the group's summer meeting here yesterday, succeeds Eugene Smith, managing editor of the Jonesboro Sun. Ted Wylie, managing editor of the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville, Ark., was elected vice chairman.

J. N. Heiskell, editor of the Gazette, was re-elected to a new 5-year term on the executive committee.

In other action, C. E. Palmer of the Palmer Newspapers, presented a trophy for the best newspaper of the year entered in the state Associated Press photo contest to Charles Nichols, Memphis Commercial Appeal photographer. Ken Johnson, the Commercial Appeal's Little Rock correspondent, received the trophy for Nichols.

Plans for coverage of the 1952 political campaigns and elections were discussed by the delegates from the AP's 25 member newspapers in Arkansas. The meeting also was attended by AP General Executive Robert Bunnell of Atlanta.

The fall meeting will be held Oct. 26 at Conway.

Spivey Arrested on Perjury Charge

New York, June 9 (AP) — Bill Spivey, former all-America basketball star at the University of Kentucky, was arrested today on a perjury charge in the basketball fix scandal.

He was booked on an indictment handed up April 28, and pleaded innocent upon arraignment before General Sessions Judge Francis L. Valente.

The court ordered his release in $2,500 bail pending trial.

Spivey was accused of falsely denying before a New York grand jury in February he discussed deals with a fixer to rig scores of games in which he played.

The perjury indictment said Spivey accepted $1,000 "as a result of such deals and arrangements in December, 1950, and January, 1951."
